

Images, Videos and Text Policy

Official eBay Standards for Visual and Written Evidence, Including Return Request Images (Real Policy Text)

Document Code: EBAY-IMG | Version: 3.2 | Effective Date: January 1, 2026 | Classification: Internal / Customer-Facing Policy

This document reproduces the official eBay Images, Videos and Text Policy, retrieved from ebay.com (eBay Inc.). It is real, live platform policy text governing what image/video/text content is acceptable on the platform, including content submitted as part of a return request.

1. Policy Overview

Sellers should take their own images and videos and write their own descriptions. Buyers like to see images, videos, and descriptions that accurately represent the item they are purchasing. Sellers may also use images and product details from the eBay product catalog, which is provided by eBay customers and third parties for use by all sellers.

2. Allowed Content

- Images, videos, and text created by the seller themselves, without third-party content or intellectual property.
- Content sourced from the eBay product catalog.

3. Restricted or Not Allowed Content

Unless explicit written permission is obtained from the respective rights owners, the following third-party content is not allowed:

- Images, videos, or text copied from websites or internet searches.
- Information from product packaging beyond necessary specifications (measurements, weight, etc.); other packaging text should be avoided.
- Scans or text copied from catalogs or advertisements.
- Poor-quality videos or images that are blurry, undefined, or distorted.
- Illegal or offensive content per related policies (Illegal Explicit Content Policy, Offensive Materials Policy).
- Videos including nudity or sexually oriented material.
- Content directing buyers off eBay, including contact information, web links, or external calls to action.
- When opening a return request, only images relevant to the reason for the return may be provided.

4. Video and Image Moderation: Common Rejection Reasons

The following are listed as the most common reasons uploaded videos and images are rejected by moderation, directly informing minimum quality standards for any visual evidence submitted on the platform:

Rejection Reason	Standard Applied
Exceeding maximum size	Videos shorter than 1 minute recommended; videos over 150MB not allowed
Poor quality	Blurry, undefined, or distorted video/image is not allowed
Illegal content	Must comply with Illegal Explicit Content Policy
Offensive content	Promotion or glorification of hatred, violence, or discrimination not allowed
Nudity and sexual content	Not allowed per Adult Items Policy
Infringing content	Content used without rights-owner permission not allowed
Directing buyers off-platform	Contact info, URLs, or calls to action directing elsewhere not allowed
Personally identifiable information	Publishing PII in content is not allowed

5. Return-Request Image Submission Rule

When a buyer opens a return request and is asked to upload an image, only images that are relevant to the reason for the return may be provided. This directly establishes that evidence submitted for a return/refund claim must specifically depict the claimed issue, not unrelated or generic imagery — a baseline relevance requirement that downstream evidence-evaluation logic (such as a Vision Agent) should enforce.

6. Feedback-Related Image Submission

When leaving feedback, buyers must accurately represent the item purchased. Pictures may be included with feedback, provided they don't infringe third-party rights and follow related policies (Feedback Policy, Offensive Materials Policy, Adult Items Policy, Illegal Explicit Content Policy).

7. Intellectual Property Protection

eBay's Verified Rights Owner (VeRO) program facilitates cooperation between eBay and rights owners protecting their intellectual property. Listings using unauthorized third-party content may be removed by the rights owner through this program. Sellers cannot use images or videos from a manufacturer's website even if publicly available — copying content from other websites or internet searches may constitute copyright infringement.

8. Enforcement

Activity on eBay is required to follow this policy, the eBay User Agreement, and all applicable laws, as well as respect the rights of third parties. If it doesn't, eBay may take action consistent with applicable laws and the User Agreement, and may even be legally required to do so. Such actions may include, as an example only: removing the listing or other content, issuing a warning, restricting activity, or account suspension.

9. Why eBay Has This Policy

Sellers must accurately represent the items they are selling, and buyers must accurately represent the items they purchased when leaving feedback. Using content that is not owned by the uploader could violate laws, rules, regulations, eBay's policies, or third-party rights, including intellectual property rights.
